

EAST COAST MAINTENANCE & MANAGEMENT

410 S MILITARY TRAIL
DEERFIELD BEACH FL, 33442
954-428-7015 eastcoastmain@ecmm.us
8:30-4:30 MONDAY-FRIDAY

Kyle Quintano

Kyle Quintano was born on June 22, 1970, on the scenic island of Malta. His unique heritage, with a Maltese father and an English mother, would eventually shape the diverse journey of his life.

At the tender age of three, Kyle's family embarked on an exciting adventure as his father, deeply immersed in the casino business, received an enticing offer to work in London, England. This relocation marked the beginning of a series of transformative experiences in Kyle's life. Shortly after settling in London, his younger brother James was welcomed into the family.

Life took another intriguing turn when Kyle's father was offered an opportunity in the Bahamas, prompting yet another international move. Growing up in the Bahamas, Kyle received an excellent education and developed a deep appreciation for the island's unique culture and beauty.

After graduating from high school, Kyle faced a challenging hurdle as he was not a Bahamian citizen and was consequently unable to work in the country. To reunite with his mother, who had settled in Florida and remarried, Kyle and James made the move to Fort Lauderdale in 1989. It was in Florida that Kyle was able to obtain his green card, granting him residence status and opening the doors to continued education and employment.

For the next five years, Kyle worked in the construction field before deciding to pivot his career path. He began working for a company supplying food to cruise ships in Miami and Port Everglades. After another five years, seeking greater opportunities, he transitioned to a company in Port Everglades that stored and delivered items to cruise ships, where he stayed for a decade.

A significant career shift occurred when Kyle entered the automotive industry as an assistant service manager. However, his life was about to change yet again when his younger brother, James, reached out for assistance. At the time, James had started working for a company providing full property management services for condominiums. Together, they worked tirelessly for seven years until an unexpected turn of events altered their professional trajectory.

ECMM

Their boss lost a contract for the development they were managing, leaving them with no other options. However, their dedication and the relationships they had cultivated with condominium owners proved invaluable. Condo owners voiced their preference for Kyle and James, expressing discomfort with the prospect of a new management company. With the guidance and support of their father, the Quintano brothers decided to take matters into their own hands.

In January 2009, they founded their own property management company East Coast Maintenance & Management (ECMM), determined to support the residents they had worked with for seven years. The journey from that point on was marked by growth and success. Starting with 16 condo associations, they steadily expanded their reach, now managing an impressive portfolio of 91 properties and counting. Kyle Quintano's resilience, adaptability, and dedication to providing top-notch service were instrumental in their remarkable journey. The Quintano brothers' story is a testament to the power of family and determination in achieving professional success.